

Validation of the Conclusion

Items to validate in the conclusion

Yes or No

It summarizes the major points of the text.

It summarizes the proposals made in the text.

It does not introduce any new element.

It captures the reader's attention.

It provides the answer(s) to the issue stated, the solution(s) to the problem set out in the introduction.

There is a direct link between the introduction and the conclusion: the introduction defines the problem and the conclusion provides answers to it.

It leaves the reader with a favourable impression.
